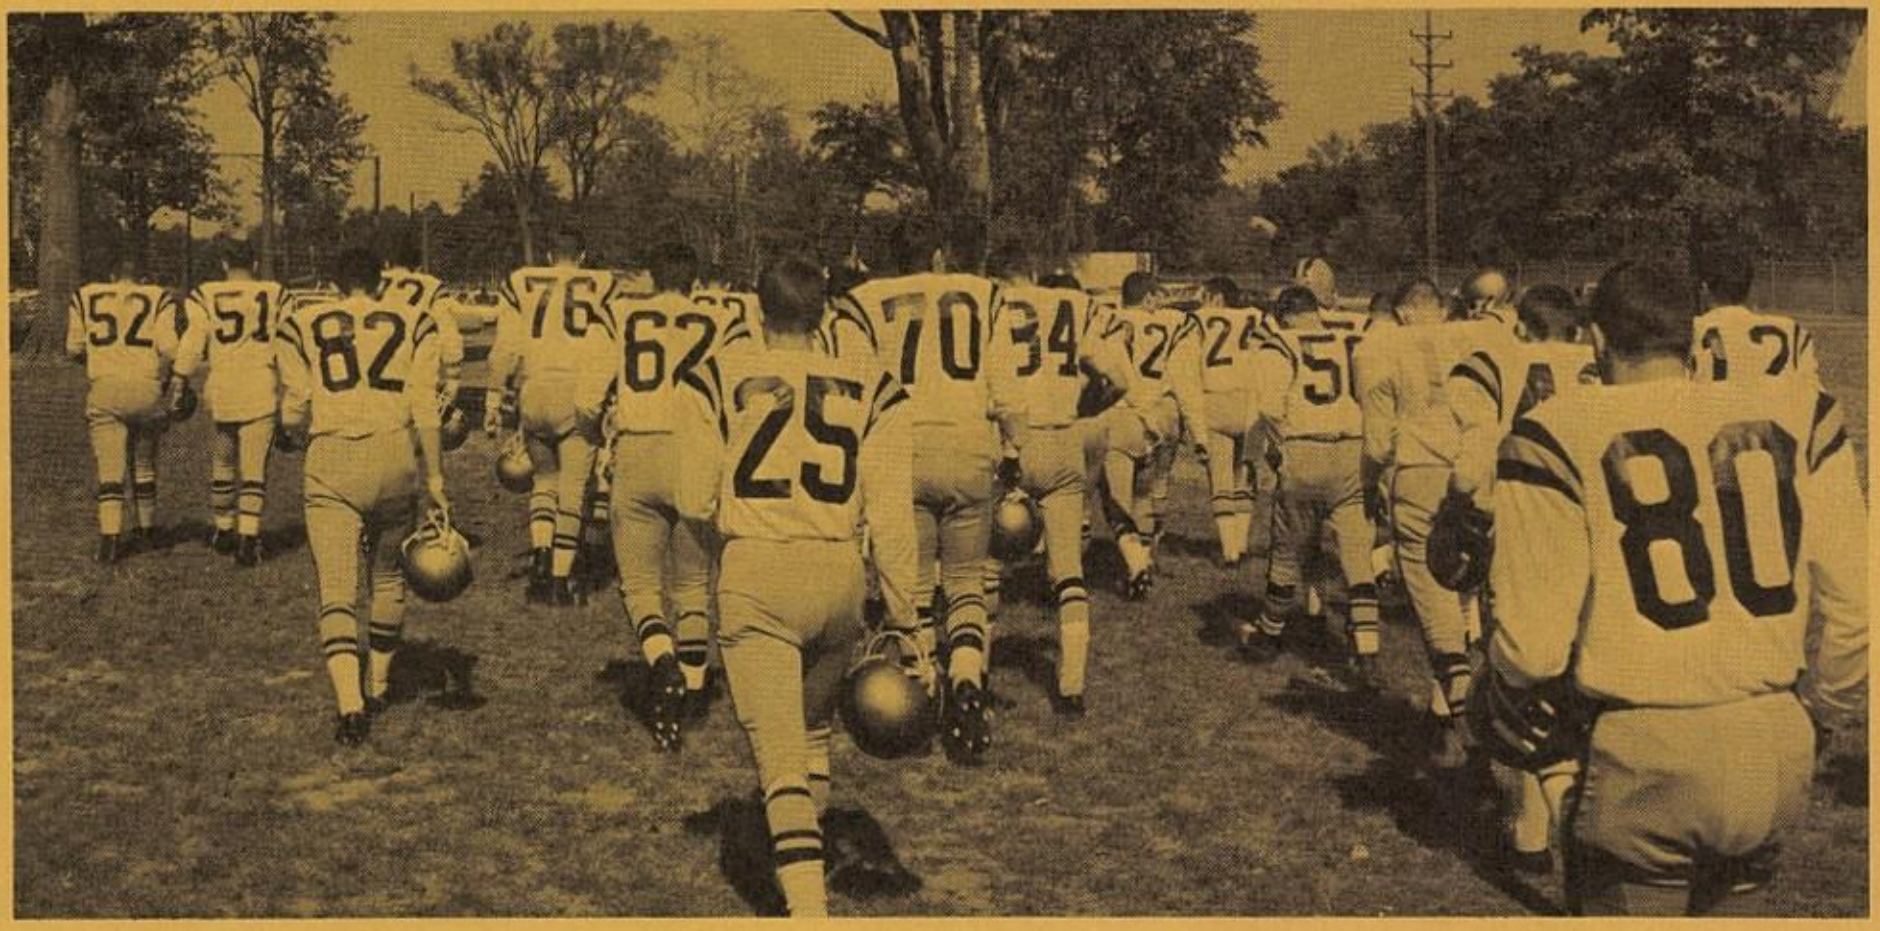
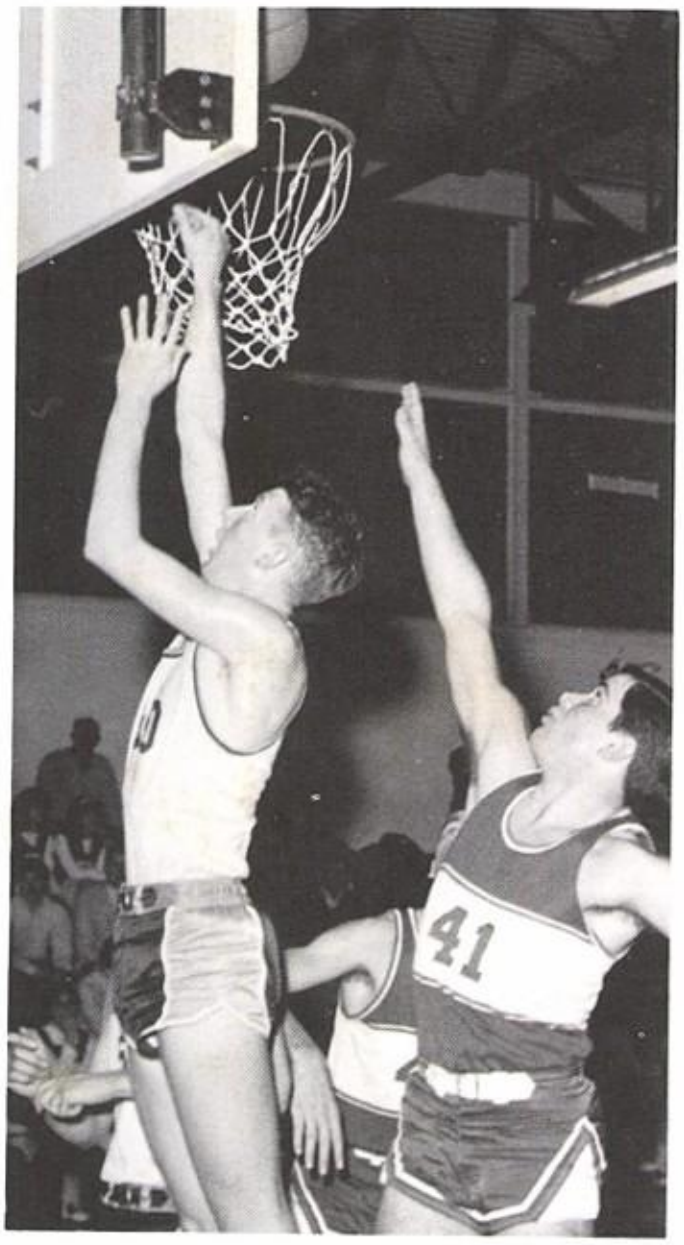
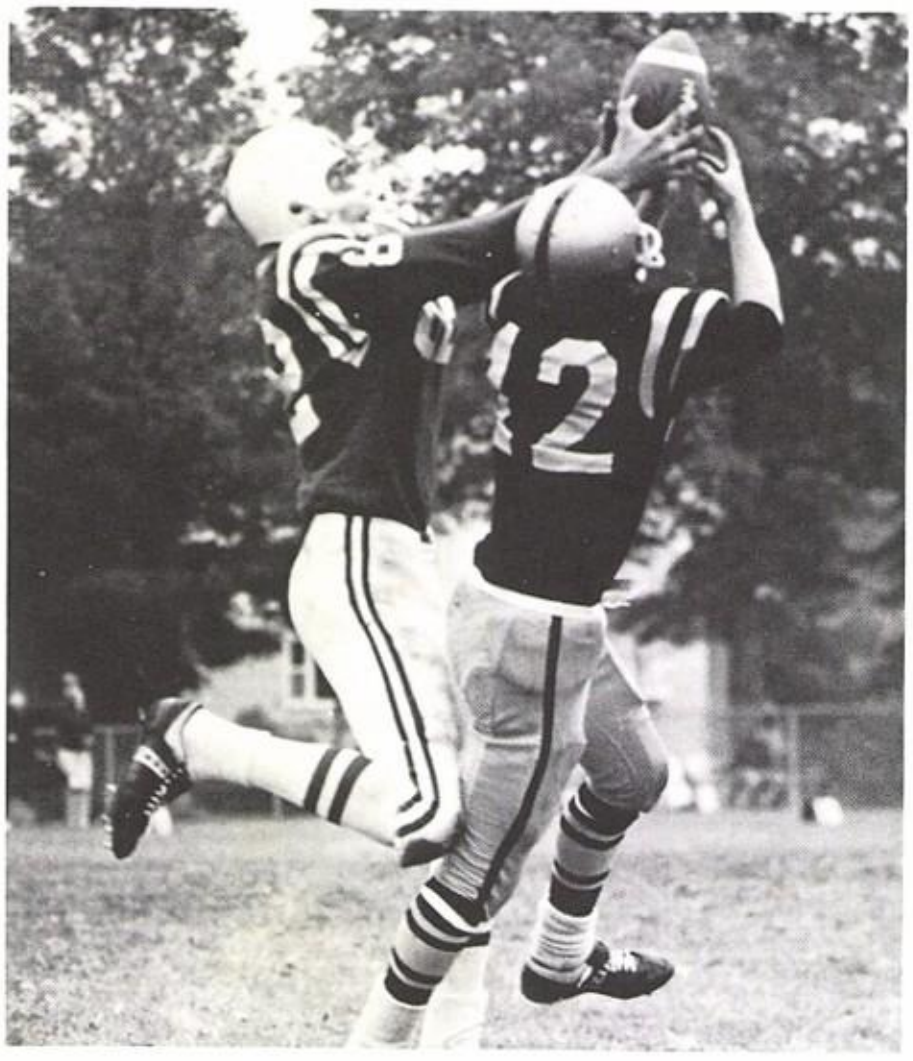
SPORTS







All are but parts of one stupendous whole,
Whose body Nature is, and God the Soul.
Pope

That a successful season is not necessarily accompanied by a winning record was demonstrated by the Cougar football team this year. Although the final tally showed only two wins as opposed to six defeats, the 7-12 and 6-7 losses to Leonia and Saddle Brook, respectively, were heartbreaking, and the Cougars performance against New Milford was outstanding, only to have victory snatched away in the final minute of play. On the plus side of the ledger were the opening game in which the team shut out Wood-Ridge, 13-0, and the Cougar's upset victory over previously dominant Emerson.

JV football team record improves

The JV football team, under the guidance of Coach Ed Baumbach, compiled its best record in three years, winding up the season with three wins and five losses. After beating Wood-Ridge, 6-0, in the opening game, the JV's dropped four before smashing Palisades Park, 20-0. The team then ended its season on a note of triumph with a 20-13 victory over New Milford.

Coach Robert Meegan's freshman team, in spite of a large turnout and good spirit,. fared less well with a single victory over Palisades Park, 13-6, balanced against seven defeats.

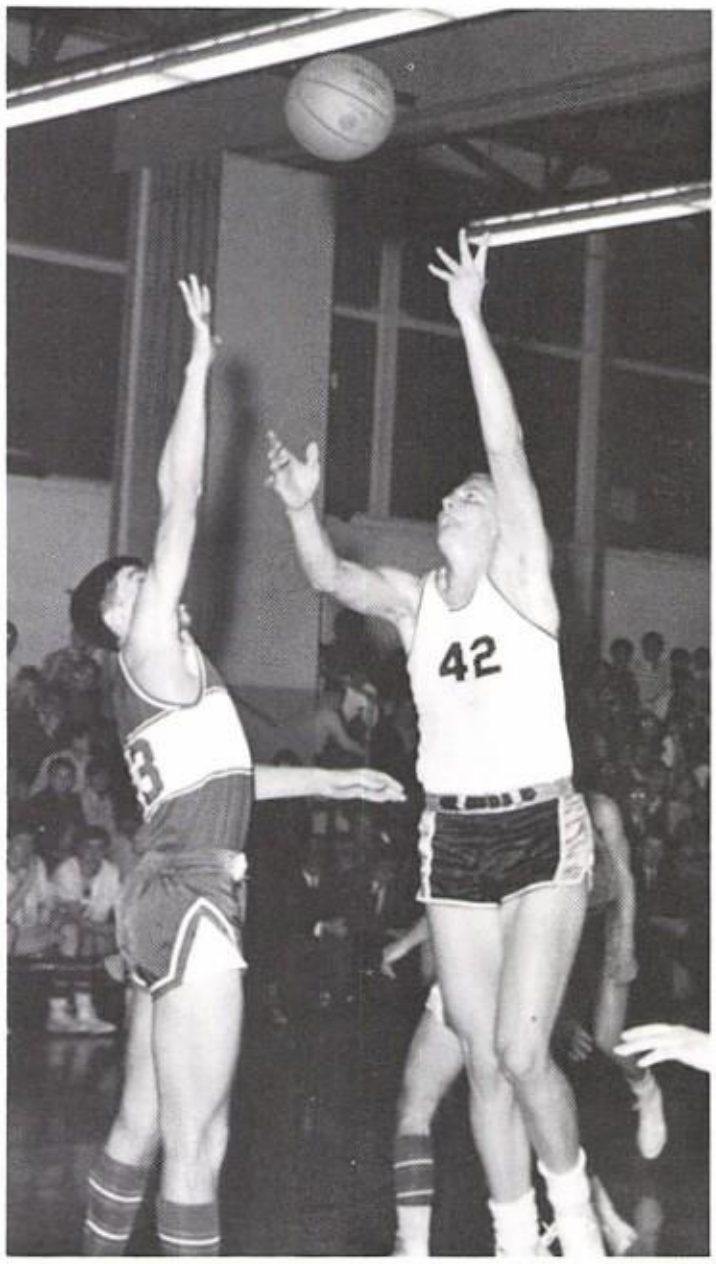
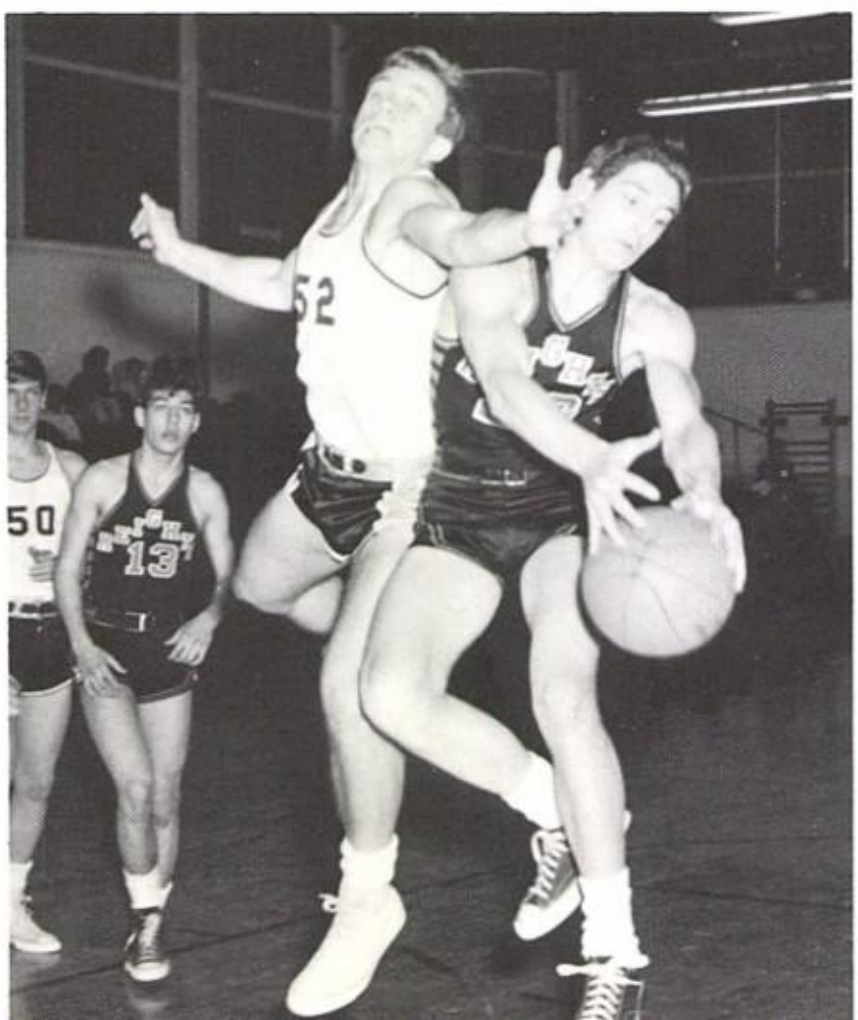
12-9 season, compete in state tournament





The highlight of Cresskill's 1967-68 basketball season was the 101-57 rout of Hasbrouck Heights, the first time for a Cougar team to break the century mark. Bob Massey set a school scoring record in the same game, putting away 31 points. A 66-56 win over Tenafly and a pair of victories over Emerson were some of the more memorable events of a 12-9 season which ended with a State Championship loss to East Rutherford.

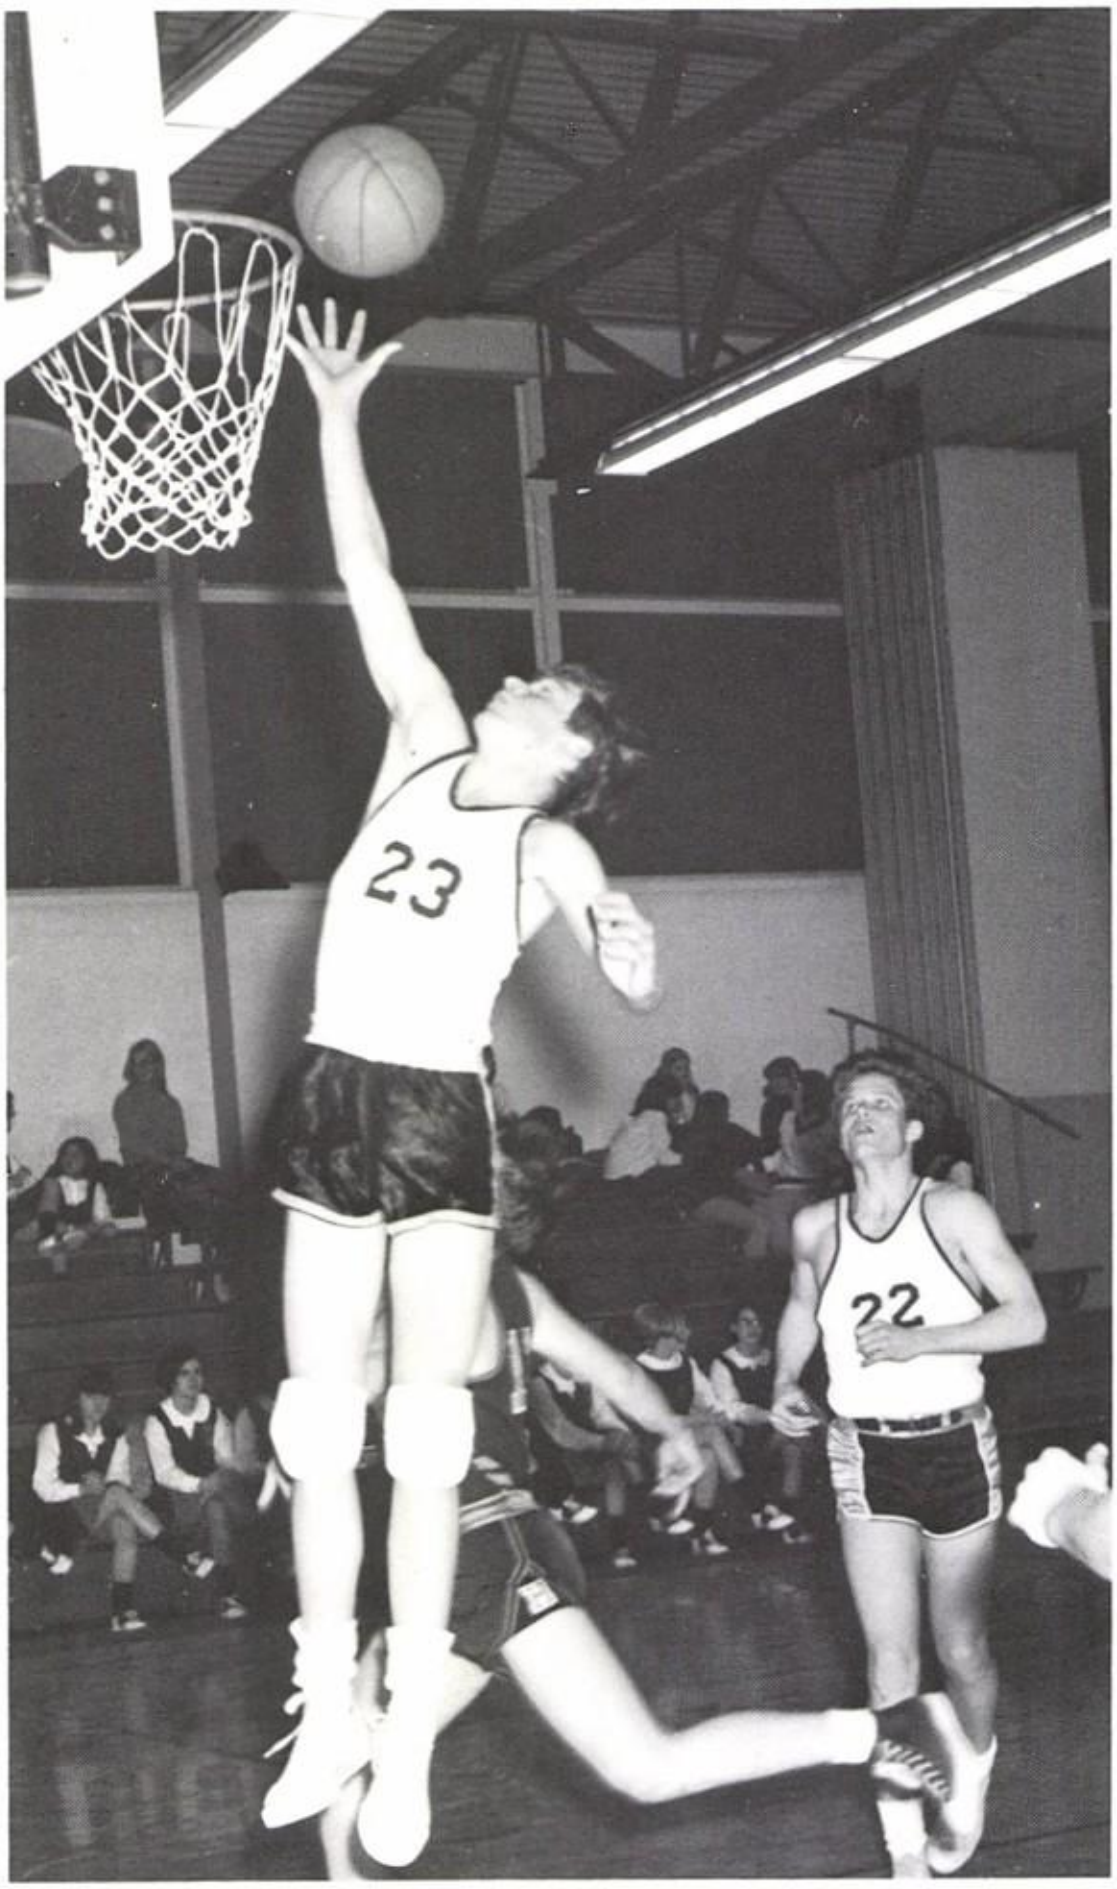
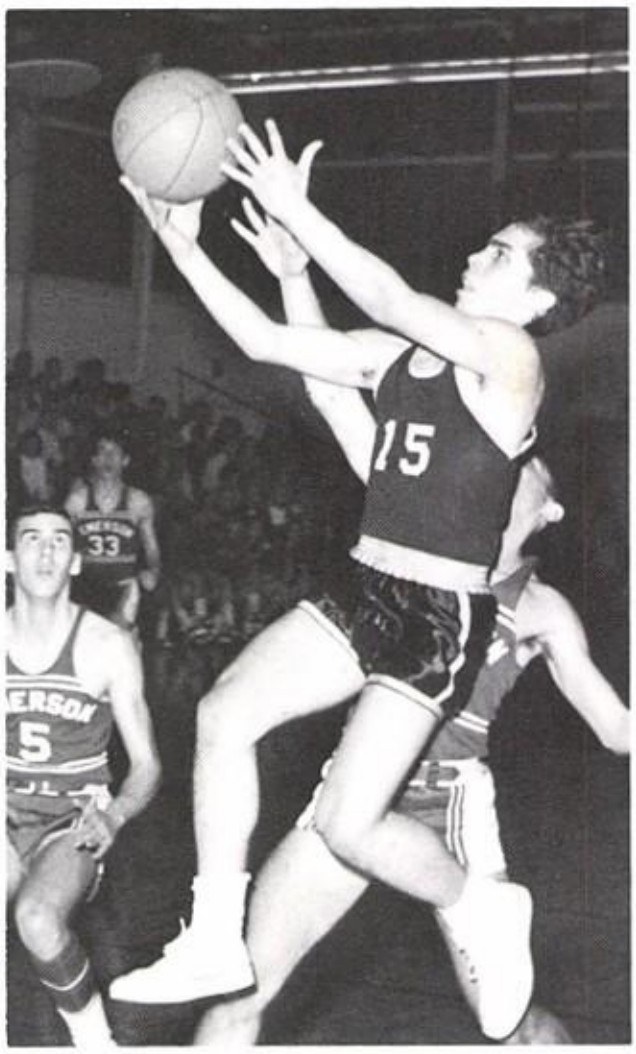
JV, freshman basketball players develop skill



The highlight of the Junior Varsity season came with the team's 67-64 double overtime upset win over Park Ridge. Coach John Quinn rallied his forces from a twenty point deficit in order to gain victory. In a year of both excitement and disappointment, this victory stood out as the team's high point in a season which included nine wins and twelve losses. Coach George VanWagenen's freshman team compiled a record of seven wins and seven losses.



Cougars compete in field and track

The 1968 track team, under coaches Richard Goldman and Dom Albanese, worked hard both as individuals and as a group to achieve a successful and exciting season. Striving to improve last year's 4-8 record, the team showed developing strength in its underclassmen and strong leadership in such seniors as runners Frank Krajick and Dirk Seifert, high jumper Bob Massey, and pole vaulter Dennis Farrell.

Coach Ed Bauer, with a nucleus of returning seniors headed by Captain John Predoti and many promising underclassmen, hopes to improve last year's varsity record of seven wins and seventeen losses in the 1968 spring season. Coach David Seddon's JV's, who racked up an 8-6 season last year, are equally sanguine. Lack of hitting power has plagued both teams in the past, but with improved strength at the plate plus good pitching, this spring's season promises to be a successful one.

Coach Ed Baumbach's 1967 Golf Team posted a record of four wins and seven losses, a considerable improvement over the previous year. With the return this spring of starting team members Roger Olsen, Bucky Vandersteen, and Tony Ajamian, an even stronger showing is anticipated. New recruits to the team, Scott Tirrell, Tim Ames, Mark Nyborg, Andy Braff, and Dave Renner ARE PICTURED practicing chip shots.

Golf, tennis gain popularity as spring sports

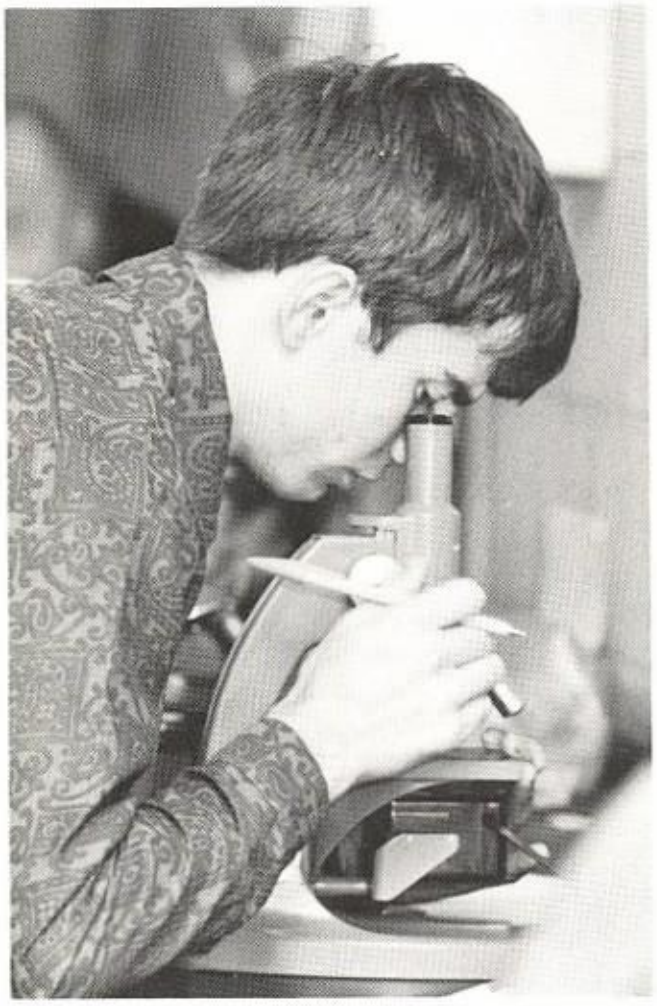
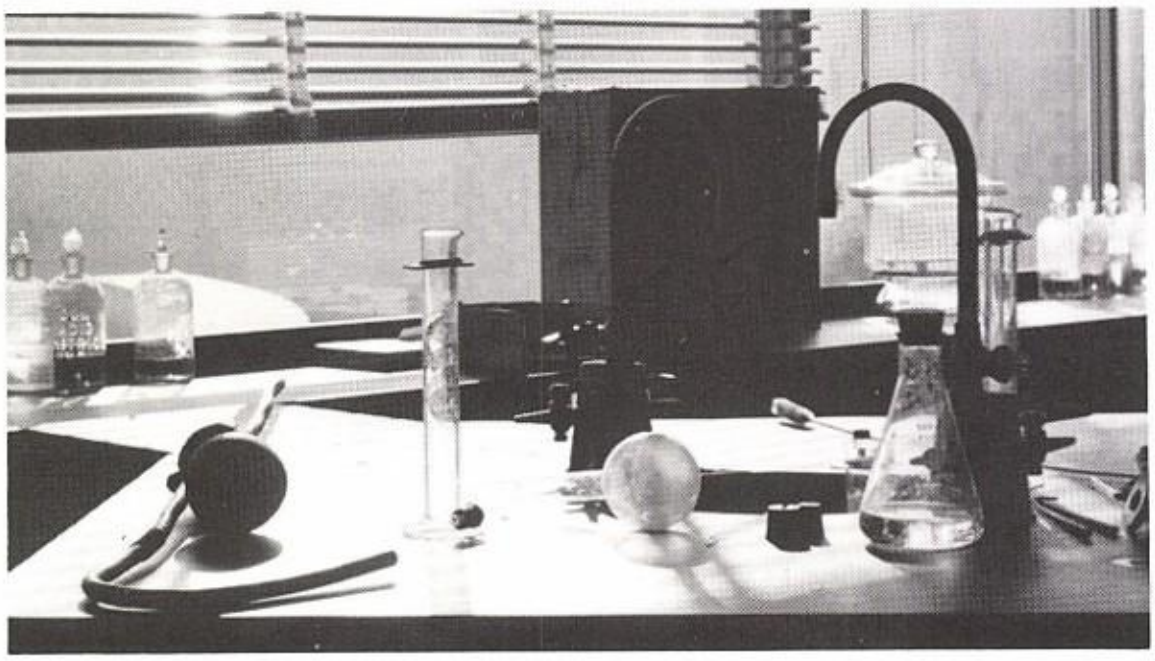
STUDENT LIFE

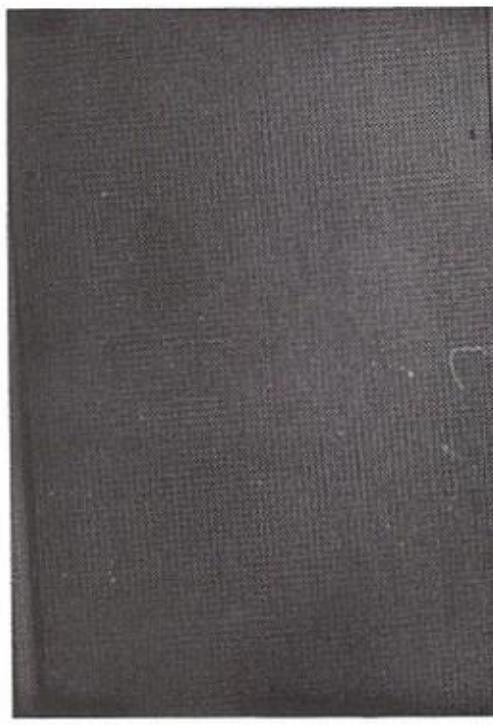
The power to judge the whole piece by the pattern . . . may almost be said to constitute experience.

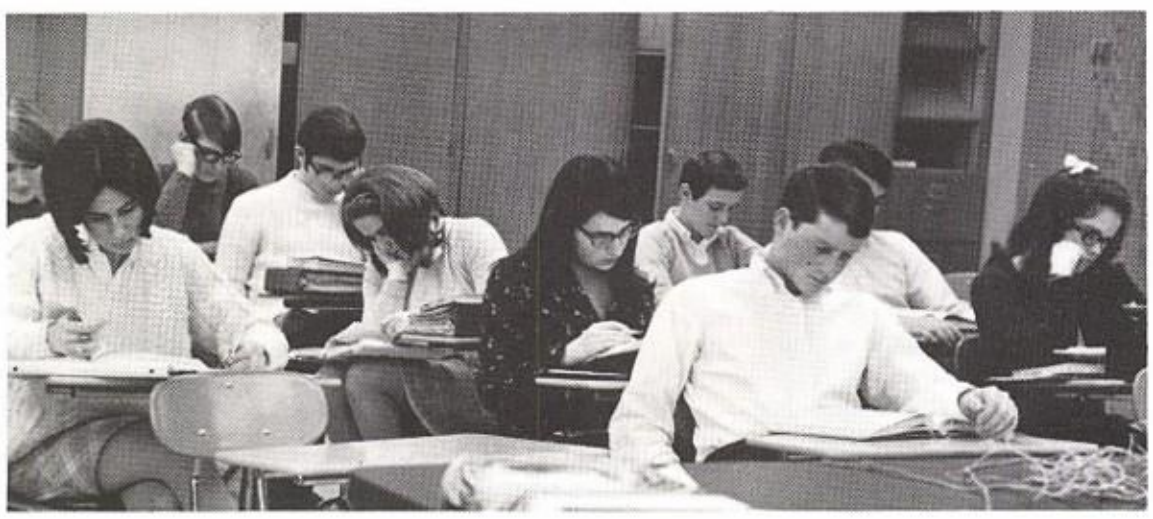
Henry James

Students lead a varied academic life









Out of the whole of student life, the largest single block of time is spent in the classroom. Efforts to make this focal point more meaningful have resulted in broadening the curriculum to include several new courses. Among these is the state-encouraged humanities program which includes an assimilation of the best in art, literature, history, and music. In addition, single semester courses in dramatics, Gregg Shorthand, personal typing, and public speaking have been introduced.

Augmenting classroom activities, various student groups have taken trips: to view Picasso at the Museum of Modern Art, to study government at the state capitol in Trenton, to watch MACBETH at Stratford, Conn.

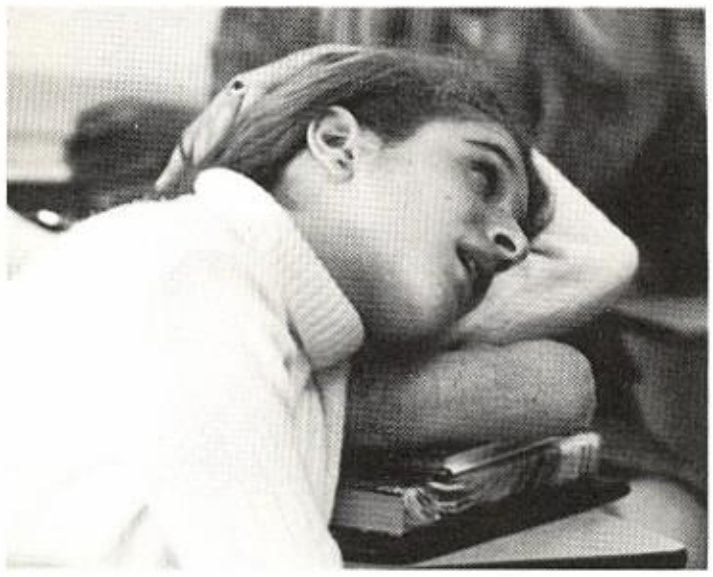
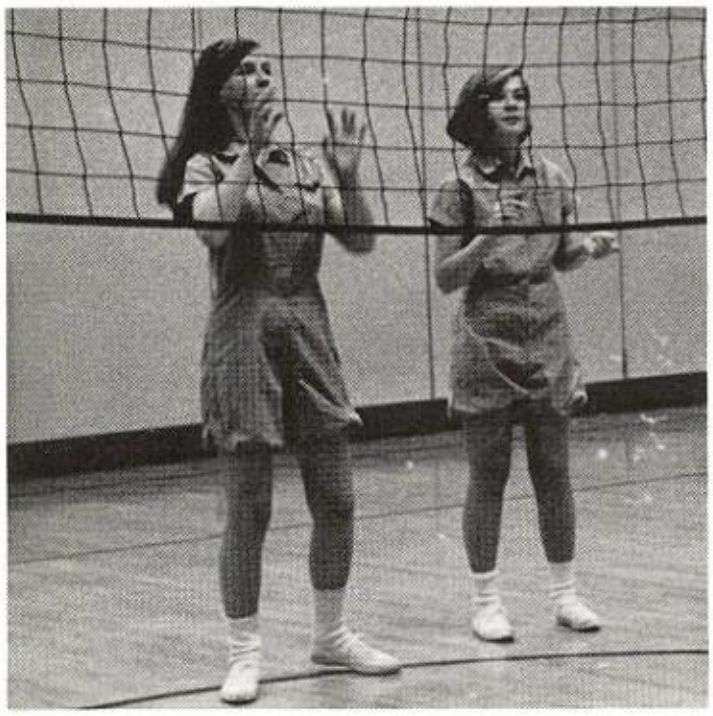
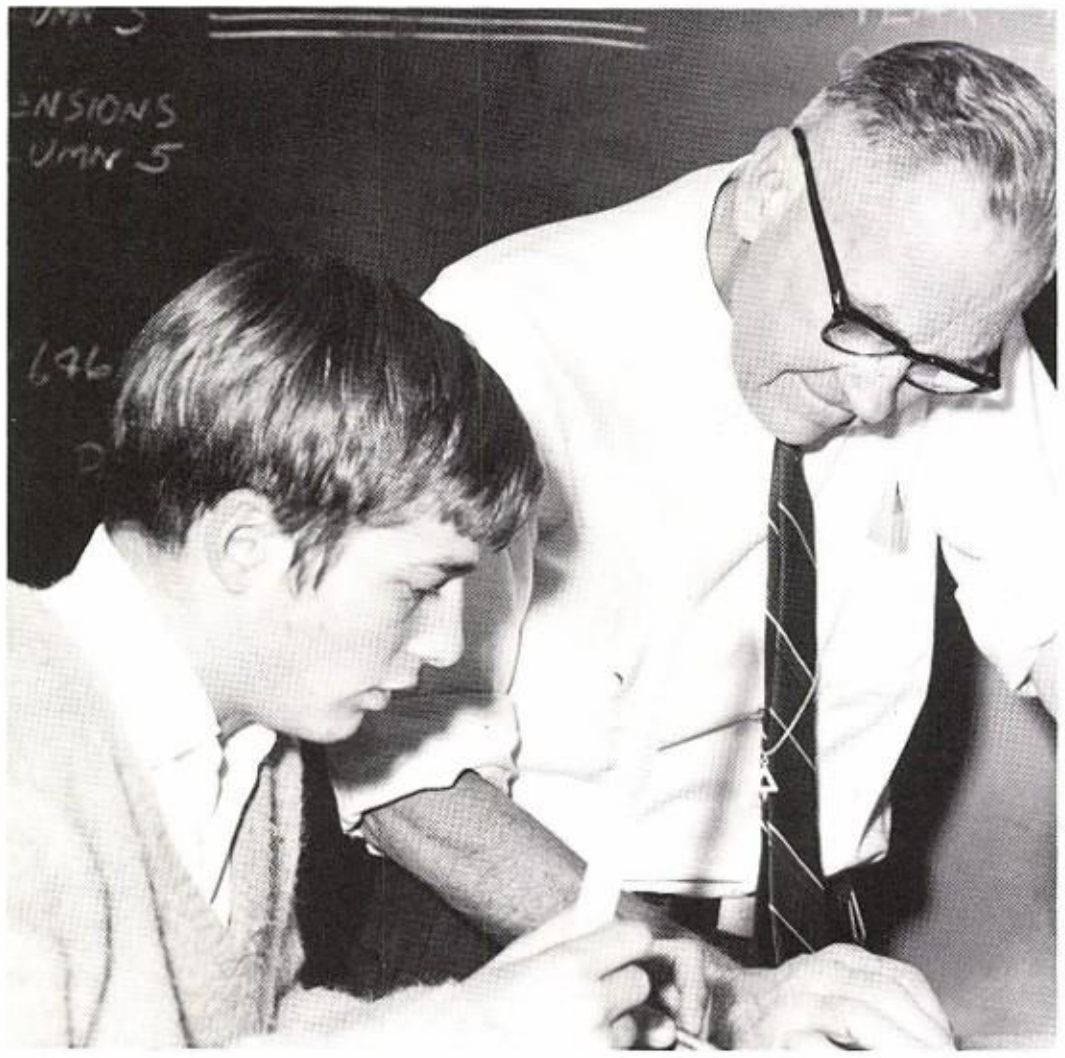
Study and experimentation: basic in learning







Although a relatively new school, Cresskill High has already begun to add complex modern equipment. The business department has been strengthened by the addition of a calculator; the stage lighting system has been completed during the past year through the volunteer work of several seniors. Through the generous contributions of the Booster Association, next year's football games will be made more interesting with a new scoreboard.

This is only the beginning. In future years CHS will make further additions, both in courses and in equipment.

Notable achievement recognized by Honor Society, Quill and Scroll

BELOW: Honor Society: Standing, R. Carle, J. Parodi, H. Pape, president; R. Massey, vice-president. Seated, C. Cheselka, secretary; L. Lindsley, S. Wilts, treasurer; D. Naso.

The second induction of the Cresskill Chapter of Quill and Scroll took place in March. The new members, editors of IMAGES, COMMUNIQUE, and OPUS, were chosen for their interest in journalism, demonstrated by their work on one or more school publications.

Members of the National Honor Society are chosen on the basis of individual scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The Cresskill chapter, under the guidance of Mrs. Amy Clemen, had as its major project for the year the coordinating of the College Bowl team.

High school journalists publish COMMUNIQUE, IMAGES, OPUS

The character of CHS is reflected in its publications. COMMUNIQUE, the school newspaper, published eight times a year under the direction of Mr. Jeffrey Gabriel, attempts to bring newsworthy activities to light and to focus student attention on current school problems.

Providing a lasting memory of CHS is IMAGES, the yearbook. Mrs. Kathleen Scanlan, the faculty mentor, guides the various staffs through the year-long project of producing a yearbook which includes all phases of school life.

Emphasizing the creative abilities of the students, the school literary magazine OPUS includes original art work as well as poetry and prose. Published each spring, OPUS is under the guidance of Miss Anita Wagner, art coordinator, and Mr. Edward Rupp, literary advisor.

Scaleographs, pens, and student thought pervade publications

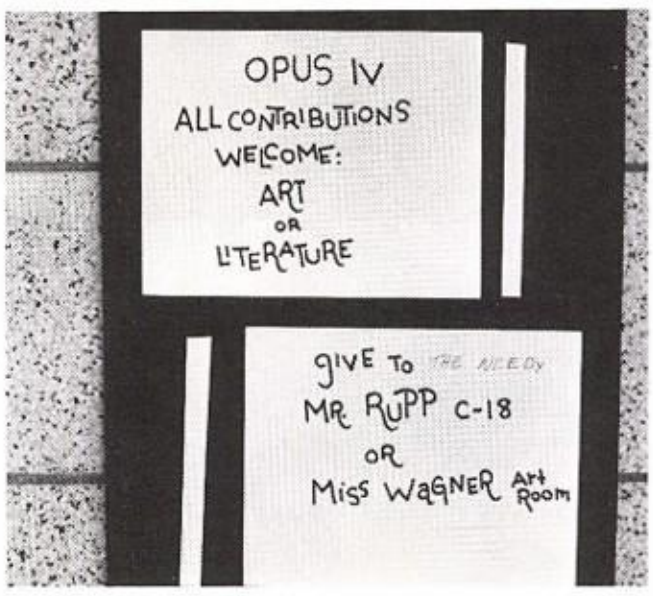
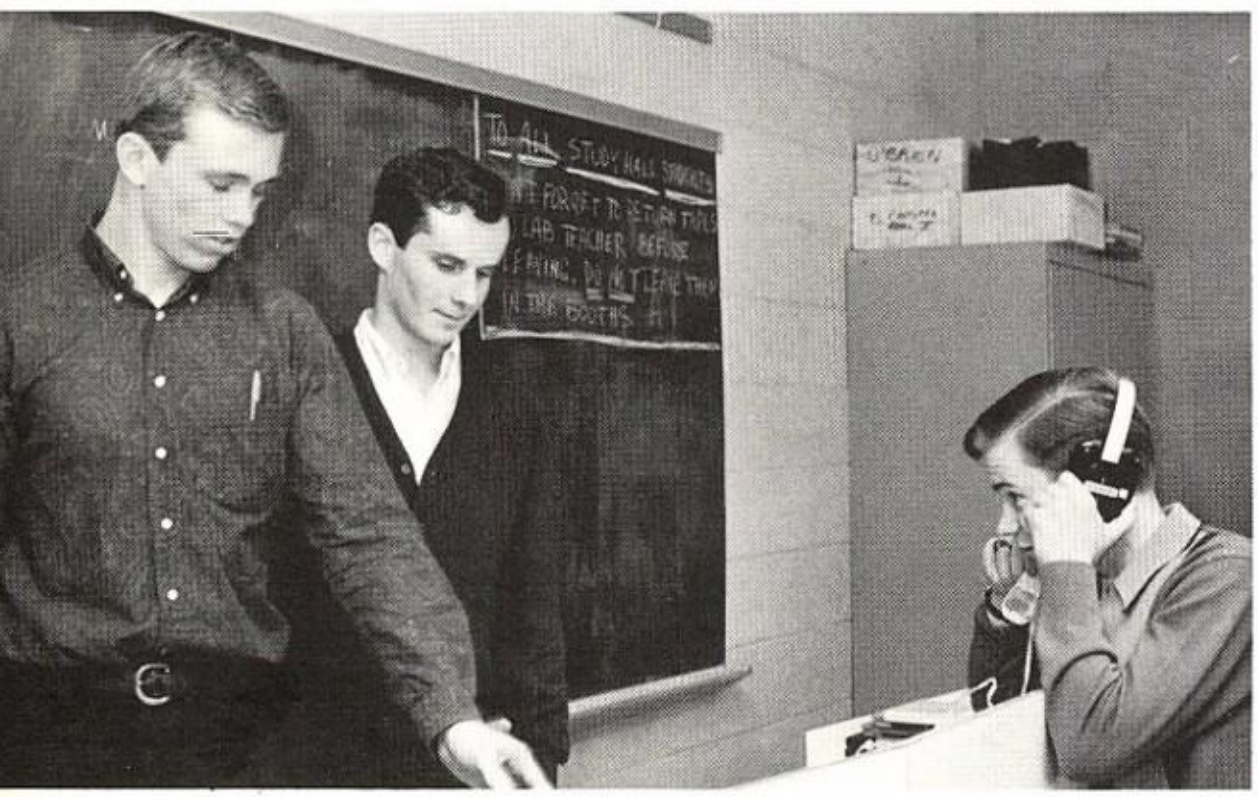
ABOVE: Alicia Brown, Sally Wilts, and Mr. Gabriel set up work schedule for next issue of COMMUNIQUE.



SO fosters student- faculty cooperation

As coordinator of all school activities, the Student Organization provides a link between the administration, faculty, and students. The SO represents the student body and provides an insight into the workings of a representative government. Besides concern with school affairs, the SO has also shown interest in the problems of the student in the community by bringing to the attention of the town council the need for a student parking lot.

TOP: The SO admires its latest acquisition, a bulletin board for school notices. ABOVE: Student Organization officers, Ron Coniglio, president; Mary Lyn Biscan, treasurer; Brian Derwin, vice-president; Kathy Grennan, secretary.



Focusing thoughts on international cooperation is our chapter of the American Field Service. This year Cresskill High was fortunate to have in its student body Susana Gonda, an exchange student from Uruguay. In addition, during the month of March, local families were visited by various exchange students from surrounding communities.

AFS, language clubs promote international friendship

Preparing to meet the demands of potential occupations are Future Teachers, Nurses, and Secretaries. These groups have the dual purpose of career guidance and inspiration of student enthusiasm.

Electronic and athletic clubs provide for special interests

Reflecting the technical interests of CHS students are the audio-visual department, the lighting crew, and the radio club. The audio-visual group is responsible for the maintenance, repair, and distribution of film and sound equipment. The lighting crew, working in their spare time and on Saturdays, has constructed an elaborate dimmer system; they also operate the lights for school assemblies and various theatrical ventures.

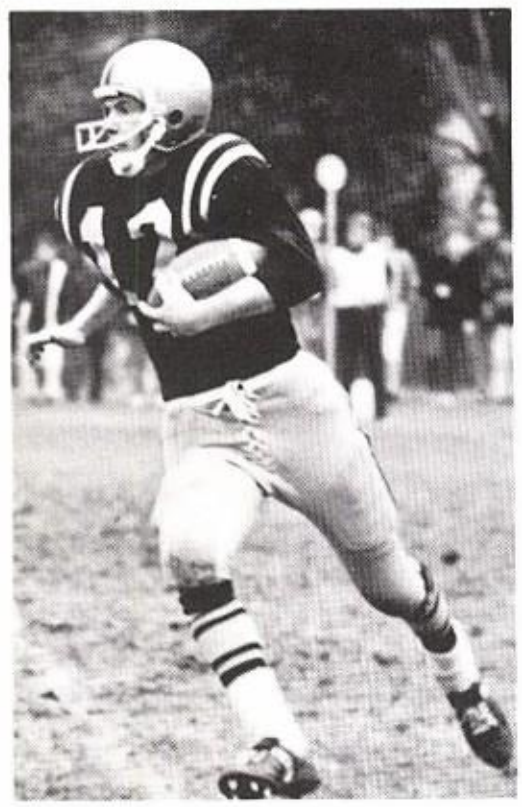
The Weight Lifting Club and the Lettermen's Association reflect the athletic spirit of the school. Endeavoring to develop muscular prowess, the weight lifters spend their after-school afternoons hefting heavy barbells. The Lettermen's Association is comprised of all athletes who have received a Varsity letter.

The Game



One of the most complex and exciting parts of school life is the football game. Not only an important event in itself, the football game combines with various other school activities to become the apex of student enthusiasm. The excitement and competitive spirit of both spectators and participants are heightened by the screams of a cheerleader, a roll on the drum. At half-time the entertainment provided by the majorettes and band is a colorful break in the punts, passes, and sprints toward the goal.

Under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Meade, the band and orchestra continued to improve. In addition to providing half-time entertainment at football games, the band also played at the Christmas and Spring Concerts. A stage band was created in early January, its members consisting of students and faculty interested in playing jazz and popular music.

The Chorus and the Vocal Ensemble, directed by Mr. Richard Bartlett, performed at the two public concerts in conjunction with the band.

The senior play was supported by the entire class, all students selling tickets and the more ambitious participating in the dramatic and backstage production aspects of the play.
